- Actions you do that others might not know (e.g. our Tahoe is modified for towing differently than what is shown in the car manual)

- Create a check list or instructions for setting up your car for towing
- Have pictures taken inside and outside of your coach before assigning your coach for transporting
- Insure someone is available to release your coach for transport
- Have someone at the receiving end available to meet the driver transporting your coach home and authorized to sign documents
- Special instructions for care of your pets
- Have the pet documents available to cross the borders of North America
- Have someone to receive your pets upon delivery
- Note: Professional drivers do not smoke or sleep in your coach

Helpful Hints:

1. In your smart-phone put names of friends and family whom you want contacted under "ICE" (In Case of Emergency). Most new phones have an emergency key when you turn it on that accesses ICE information even if your phone has a password lock.
2. Keep a note pad of all calls made concerning your emergency situation- Be sure to get the name of the person and phone number so you can call them back. List each date and time you call so there is a chronological record of the notes of your conversations.
3. Many emergency services provide vials for information that can be placed in your coach freezer. Emergency responders are trained to look in the freezer for that information. If you have more information than can fit in that vial, then reference the location of the folder or binder that contains it.
4. Current FMCA membership is key to your FMCAssist Insurance coverage
 - Keep your membership paid in advance
 - You can pay 4 years in advance and get one year free (5 years total)
- There is only one notice sent that your membership is coming due
- Your FMCA membership expiration date is shown on your FMCA magazine label
5. Tell friends and family about FMCAssist. If everyone in the coach is incapacitated, then someone outside the coach needs to notify Seven Corners Insurance to get the coverage you may need.
6. Tell everyone you know and meet who owns a qualified motorhome for FMCA about the benefits of FMCAssist that is included in your dues. Getting more members in FMCA will help justify FMCA's continued inclusion of FMCAssist as part of our membership dues. This is the greatest recruiting tool for getting new members.
